The Althea Johnson Agency Continues to Make an Impact Through Multiple Charity Events Sponsored by the Firm to Benefit Families in the Oyster Bay Region

The Althea Johnson Agency, a locally owned insurance and financial consultation firm with clients that reside all across Long Island, is involved in several active charity events to improve outcomes for families and individuals in the greater Oyster Bay region.

Hicksville, NY (PRWEB) July 17, 2017 -- The Althea Johnson Agency, a New York based firm that provides insurance acquisition assistance and financial planning services to residential and commercial clients in and around Nassau County, is announcing several updates on charity events affecting a broad range of residents in the region.

The last charity drive hosted by the Althea Johnson Agency was able to raise $245 for Angela’s House. Currently, an ongoing event in conjunction with the Smiles For Scott Foundation to provide for children battling cancer continues to gather support from local residents, and funding goals have nearly been reached. The Agency is also presently supporting the L.I. Against Domestic Violence Shelter organization, and future plans include a group effort with four other Allstate agents to provide local shelters with donations of summer goods (sunscreen, towels, beach toys, etc.) that will ultimately be given to low income families.

“We’ve got several charity events planned for this summer, and our firm is committed to helping families and individuals in our community overcome their challenges, live well, and thrive,” says Althea Johnson, acting director and agency principal of the Althea Johnson Agency.

To promote and expand the charity events sponsored by Johnson and her team, the Agency has established an information sharing system over social media and email that allows supporters to stay up to date. As well, the Johnson team publishes articles monthly on active Long Island charity events in “Our Hometown,” a monthly webzine hosted by the firm: http://www.ajagency.net/Our-Hometown-Magazine_39.

Over the last year, the Althea Johnson Agency has supported several noteworthy charities and nonprofits in the area. As members of the “Agents of Change” charity support movement, the firm plans to continue hosting and promoting regional charity events frequently.
