Twila Jessop’s Newly Released “Flickers Of Light, Love And Air” Is An Intriguing Book Of Poems About Reading Between The Lines Of Life To Find The Truth In One’s Journey

“Flickers of Light, Love and Air” from Christian Faith Publishing author Twila Jessop, is the emotional collection of original poems that were written from the unheard whispers of the author’s heart.

(PRWEB) September 18, 2017 -- “Flickers of Light, Love and Air”: entices the reader to listen to the inner whispers of their own heart, know that God is listening, and show that there is always room for growth. The inner candle will be lit and guide the way to the true meaning of life. “Flickers of Light, Love and Air” is the creation of published author, Twila Jessop, who uses prayer and meditation to slowly expose the butterfly wings that have been hidden by the winding roads and muddy waters of the past.

Jessop shares:
“My only guide, an inner voice
That told me I must rise
That in this life we make a choice
To see the truth through lies.”

Published by Christian Faith Publishing, Twila Jessop’s new book encourages readers to listen to the inner voice that is created within the late hours of the night, or during the early hours of waking up. Proving that these messages need to be listened to, welcomed and encouraged in order to stretch and grow during the hard times within life. “Flickers of Light, Love and Air,” will allow the dazzling light to become joy and a candle to guide the way.
