

(PRWEB) September 18, 2017 -- Linda G. Turrell, an educator, consultant, educational magazine writer, and author, has completed her new book “Savvy Trading! Making Money in the Market: Understanding Investment Tools to Create Your Own Trading System!”: a helpful book for those who desire to understand the art of selecting financial tools to have a successful investing system.

Author Turrell puts clearly what it takes to create one’s own investing system: “This book is also not about making money in only specialized areas or even about trying to time the market in a precise way. It is about doing your homework—locating vital information, reading, researching, planning, tracking the investments that you are considering holding in your portfolio. It is about being aware of some basic types of investments. This means knowing HOW they work and why. It is about taking the time to master this information and then using it to form a system modified to YOUR needs, ideas, and goals.”

Published by New York City-based Page Publishing, Linda G. Turrell’s well-written book helps people to acquire effective investor knowledge and trading skills. Seven types of investments and seven investment tools and rules that will help in making money are also featured here.

Readers who wish to experience this instructive work can purchase “Savvy Trading! Making Money in the Market: Understanding Investment Tools to Create Your Own Trading System!” at bookstores everywhere, or online at the Apple iTunes store, Amazon, Google Play, Kobo or Barnes and Noble.
