Kansas City Attorney Raises Funds for People with Blood Cancers

Kansas City family law attorney Nathalie C. Elliott, of the Levy Craig Law Firm, will participate in the Light The Night Walk for the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society.

Kansas City, MO (PRWEB) September 15, 2017 -- Nathalie C. Elliott, a family law attorney at the Levy Craig Law Firm in Kansas City, MO, was diagnosed with leukemia on November 10, 2010. According to the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS), approximately every three minutes one person in the United States is diagnosed with a blood cancer, such as leukemia.

In order to help the LLS raise funds for others diagnosed with a blood cancer, Elliott, for the seventh consecutive year since she was diagnosed, will be participating in the voluntary health agency’s Light The Night Walk on Saturday, September 30, at Cleveland University -- Kansas City, 10850 Lowell Avenue, Overland Park, KS. Light The Night Walk funds treatments that are saving the lives of patients today. LLS is making cures happen by providing patient support services, advocating for lifesaving treatments and pioneering the most promising cancer research anywhere.

Elliott and her team, which walks with her, to date have raised over $25,000 for LLS. In addition to much-needed funds, the team raises awareness of the LLS and the event by having additional new people added to the team each year. Elliott also has a team fundraising page each year for people to donate or register to walk with her.
