First-Ever Modern Home Tour Set for DC-Metro Area

The Modern Architecture + Design Society brings its Modern Home Tour event series to the Washington DC metro area for the first time this October. The one-day event gives residents of the DC-Metro area a special opportunity to visit and walk-through a selection of amazing modern private residences, and meet the local architects and builders behind the designs.

Washington, DC (PRWEB) September 18, 2017 -- The Modern Architecture + Design Society is hosting the inaugural DC-Metro Modern Home Tour on Saturday, October 7, 2017. During the self-guided event, tour-goers will get the inside scoop from homeowners on what it’s like to live in a cutting-edge modern home, and learn directly from the on-site architects, builders and designers how they find inspiration for these fascinating residences. This is every DC-area resident’s chance to see the inside of ‘that amazing house on the block…’

Spirit of Place / Spirit of Design has been named the DC-Metro Modern Home Tour’s local non-profit beneficiary. The group was founded in 1993 by Travis Price, a featured architect on the Modern Home Tour. Spirit of Place will help staff the event, in return for a small donation and the opportunity to use the tour as a fundraising vehicle to help further their mission.

Local real estate group Contemporary Listings has partnered with the Modern Architecture + Design Society to help curate the tour. As a resource for buying and selling modern homes in DC, MD, & VA, they have been integral in finding some of this year’s featured homes, mostly privately owned.

Five homes have been accepted and confirmed for the 2017 DC-Metro Modern Home Tour. Participating architects and designers, and featured neighborhoods include:

(1) Hidden away near Rock Creek Park, see a modern home designed by Travis Price Architects, which features a street side facade of copper, and a park side rear clad with transparent super-insulated glazing.

(2) A second Travis Price Architects home, located in Embassy Row that features expansive walls and walkways of glass inside.

(3) A just-finished gut renovation by FORMA Design, Inc. of a 3-story row house, located around the corner from Logan Circle, that features a completely modern take built into a traditional downtown Washington townhome exterior.

(4) A giant modern home made of wood and stone designed by Mark McInturff and located in McLean, VA.

(5) A third Travis Price home, located right next door to the first, is an elegant masterpiece featuring open spaces and tons of glass.

Participating homes in the Modern Architecture + Design Society’s first-ever DC-Metro Modern Home Tour will open their doors for viewing from 11AM – 5PM on Saturday, October 7th, in and around the Washington DC-Metro area. Tickets for the home tour are $40. Kids under 10 are free when accompanying their parents. A VIP ticket is also available.
