PHOENIX (PRWEB) November 09, 2018 -- Michael Gilburd the C.E.O for Boink Live Streaming, announced today that Boink Live Streaming Corporation would be changing its name to VUUZLE.MEDIA. Prophecy the C.T.O for Boink Live said, “the current Mobile application on Apple IOS and Google Android would also be changing from BONK BE LIVE to VUUZLE.LIVE.

Prophecy the new C.T.O for Boink Live streaming said, “OTT names and branding are all tied to worlds of television and digital video. OTT stands for “over-the-top,” the term used for the delivery of film and TV content via the internet, without requiring users to subscribe to a traditional cable or satellite”.

Michael Gilburd the C.E.O for Boink Live Streaming said, “In the world, today “Over-the-top” is the most powerful term in entertainment right now, not the least of which it sits at the center of the inevitable and unstoppable merger between video streaming and television”.

VUUZLE.LIVE will now give the users and viewers an introduction that will permit advertisers to evaluate how the distribution relationship is running within the new mobile streaming application”.

Under the management of Boink Live streaming, the Board of directors and advisors agreed that OTT applications matter because of what they entail about the future. As video streaming services such as Netflix have already shown, people are starting to tire of paying the major cable and satellite ridiculous amounts of money to consume media.

The rise in popularity of OTT applications further shows that people are tired of bundling together multiple services when all they really need are certain aspects of each service. Before OTT applications, if a person wanted to watch HBO they had to subscribe to the relevant cable or satellite package to receive it. Now, however, people can simply download that standalone OTT application HBO NOW and enjoy HBO content without having to pay for a corresponding cable package.

For the first time in the history of media, consumers are starting to affect the profits of major content providers by refusing to pay for services and bundles that were once considered essential. Only time will show what the true effects of OTT applications will have on the world of media, however, we believe that media companies are about to experience one of the most major shifts in broadcasting since the invention of cable.
