OnlineMasters.com Names Top Master's in Music Programs for 2019

Demand for graduate-level music education degrees is expected to rise in the years ahead thanks to an expanding education sector.

SEATTLE (PRWEB) November 20, 2018 -- OnlineMasters.com, a trusted source for unbiased college rankings and higher education planning, has announced the release of the best online master's in music programs in the United States. The top-ranked programs were selected based on curriculum, program flexibility, affordability, and graduate outcomes.

The research organization analyzed graduate schools across the country with only the top 12 making it to the final 2019 list. In addition to interviews and surveys from current students and alumni, they also leveraged insight gained from human resource professionals. The methodology incorporates the most recent data from the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) and statistical data from the National Center for Education Statistics. Most importantly, only programs from accredited nonprofit institutions were eligible.

“U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics show the career opportunities for teachers with graduate level education will continue to grow at a rate of 15% for foreseeable future” stated Barbara Montgomery, Program Recognition Manager. This is just one of the many reasons OnlineMasters.com researched, analyzed, and ranked the top Master's in Music Programs.
