Retired Veteran, Xulon Author Releases Book on Her Spiritual Journey

Deliverance from emotional, physical, and sexual abuse she endured can be seen within her story.

STAFFORD, Va. (PRWEB) November 22, 2018 -- Within the pages of Donna Johnson’s book, Freak Like Me ($15.49, paperback, 9781545643693; $5.99, ebook, 9781545643709), readers will find the story of the author’s spiritual journey with God, whom she credits with her deliverance from the emotional, physical, sexual abuse she endured and general distrust of love.

Freak Like Me will walk readers through pivotal moments that led to Johnson’s spiritual transformation and ultimate deliverance. Readers will see what can happen if they choose to open themselves up to God and His plan for their lives.

“Abuse [of] all types are rampant in our society today,” says Johnson. “All our answers are in God—there are no shortcuts. Deliverance and transformation requires our participation.”

Donna Johnson is a retired veteran and ordained church elder.

Xulon Press, a division of Salem Media Group, is the world’s largest Christian self-publisher, with more than 12,000 titles published to date. Freak Like Me is available online through xulonpress.com/bookstore, amazon.com, and barnesandnoble.com.
