Regulatory Compliance and Cybersecurity Specialist Will Protect Businesses in New York Tristate Area

Partners in Regulatory Compliance set to offer consultative cybersecurity services to NY area businesses highly impacted by complex data security and privacy regulations

MOUNT ARLINGTON, N.J. and NEW YORK (PRWEB) January 02, 2019 -- Starting in 2019, Partners in Regulatory Compliance (PIRC) will offer consultative risk management services and advise businesses on sophisticated technology solutions to ensure regulatory compliance, integrated with the best in cybersecurity defense platforms.

Built by the leadership team at Exigent Technologies, which has provided full-service IT consulting in the New York tristate area for more than 20 years, PIRC provides an innovative answer to the growing, complex need for cybersecurity in businesses facing strict regulatory compliance controls. Whether a business needs the full leadership of a virtual Chief Information Security Officer (CISO) or help with a specific regulatory compliance matter, PIRC’s team of certified cybersecurity experts ensure a compliant, secure digital environment.

“As both digital attacks and regulatory demands grow exponentially, we’ve launched this highly specific practice to consult on innovative, sophisticated security and regulatory compliance protection for our clients, particularly those in high-risk verticals such as law, finance, healthcare, nonprofits and education,” explained Daniel Haurey, President of Exigent Technologies and a founding member of PIRC.

The need for companies in certain industries to guard against escalating digital attacks demands more specialized focus and expertise to deliver meaningful risk mitigation, he added. “For something this critical, you want a specialist. Companies entrusted with volumes of sensitive consumer data are facing exceedingly complex compliance controls, in addition to having a professional, ethical commitment to protect the sensitive data they work with and store on behalf of their customers. PIRC’s clear mission is to meet the needs of those clients.”

The PIRC team of certified cybersecurity consultants can provide exceptional levels of expertise regardless of a company’s current security stance. Plus, the team can work independently or side-by-side with a business’ existing IT department to enhance risk mitigation efforts.

In either role, PIRC offers a full range of solutions:

- Chief Information Security Officer (CISO) as-a-service enables full compliance and security leadership at a fraction of the cost of an in-house resource
- Internal and external penetration
- Web application penetration testing
- Policy development and management
- Risk assessments
- Cybersecurity assessments
- Cybersecurity education and awareness training in the NY area

Beyond its technical expertise, the PIRC team is well-versed in key regulatory compliance laws, including:
