HUB International Midwest Limited Hit With Lawsuit Filed by Blumenthal Nordrehaug Bhowmik De Blouw LLP, Alleging The Company Failed To Provide Meal and Rest Breaks

The pending class action lawsuit against HUB International alleges the insurance brokerage failed to pay proper Overtime Wages to their California employees.

SAN FRANCISCO (PRWEB) January 24, 2019 -- The San Francisco employment law lawyers at Blumenthal Nordrehaug Bhowmik De Blouw LLP, filed a class action lawsuit against HUB International Midwest Limited, alleging they failed to pay their non-exempt employees working in California for all overtime hours worked and allegedly failed to provide all legally required meal and rest periods under California law. The pending class action lawsuit against HUB International is currently pending in the San Bernardino County Superior Court, Case No. CIVDS1900463. To read a copy of the Complaint, please click here.

The pending class action lawsuit against HUB International alleges that the company fails to have a policy or practice which provided a full off-duty, thirty minute uninterrupted meal break to their California non-exempt employees. Consequently, employees working for the California company allegedly forfeited meal and rest breaks without additional compensation.

The Complaint further alleges that HUB International failed and continues to fail to accurately calculate and pay PLAINTIFF and the other members of the CALIFORNIA CLASS for their overtime worked. HUB International compensates their employees on a non-discretionary incentive program along with an hourly rate. Allegedly, management and supervisors described the incentive program to potential and new employees as part of the compensation package. As a matter of law, the incentive compensation received by PLAINTIFF and other CALIFORNIA CLASS Members must be included in the “regular rate of pay.” The failure to do so has allegedly resulted in a systematic underpayment of overtime compensation to PLAINTIFF and other CALIFORNIA CLASS Members by DEFENDANT.
