In addition, Voalte will demonstrate its new analytics solution, Voalte Insight™, which helps hospitals optimize communication throughout their organizations. With its dynamic, easily accessible and understandable reports and dashboards, this powerful tool enables informaticists and other decision-makers to address communication breakdowns and drive workflow improvements.

“System-wide clinical collaboration is a core component of the digital revolution transforming healthcare,” said
Trey Lauderdale, Founder and CEO of Voalte. “Providers today require a comprehensive communication platform to connect caregivers across multiple hospitals, physician practices and outpatient facilities. Voalte solutions are meeting this challenge by delivering the functionality, deployability, scalability and flexibility needed for such large, complex projects.”

If you’re going to HIMSS19, schedule a demo of Voalte Platform and Voalte Insight or visit Booth 2287 to learn how Voalte is helping hospitals power up to the next level of care team collaboration.
