KIRKLAND, Wash. (PRWEB) February 21, 2019 -- aboutGOLF has announced an exciting new partnership with prestigious Colorado Golf Club, located in Parker, CO. Its nationally recognized Championship Course will be available to play on aboutGolf’s simulator.

aboutGolf is especially excited about this alliance in anticipation of the upcoming 2019 U.S. Mid-Amateur, which will be hosted at Colorado Golf Club, as their first national championship. Players now can practice and play the course during the offseason in preparation.

The Colorado Golf Club is continually ranked among the United States’ top modern courses. Since opening in 2007, The Championship Course received recognition from T&L Golf and GOLF Magazine and has been noted as a challenging, yet playable course for all skillsets. Also hosting the 2010 Senior PGA Championship.

The course’s natural design with ponderosa pines and picturesque hills will be realistically depicted on aboutGolf’s industry-leading indoor simulators. aboutGolf has been able to provide the world’s most detailed images, down to tee placement and weather condition clarity, by successfully implementing advanced machine vision technology.

"Our dedicated graphics team develops each course using topographical, photographic and aerial data, enabling rendering with unprecedented accuracy and achieving the desired detail, realism and immersive experience," says Randall Henry, Chief Golf Officer.
