James Whittier’s Newly Released “Believe…: If You Want To” is a Joyful Dialogue Between a Father and Daughter

“Believe…: If You Want To” from Christian Faith Publishing author James Whittier is an admirable children’s book presenting a dialogue between an imaginative and patient father and his inquisitive young daughter asking him about every conceivable mystery.

MEADVILLE, Pa. (PRWEB) February 25, 2019 -- “Believe…: If You Want To”: a terrific, touching homage to childhood, is the creation of published author James Whittier, a devoted father from New England who went through a roster of jobs and adventures, from being a soldier and paratrooper to following Christ, traveling the world, and managing a Fortune 200 company.

Whittier writes, “This story is about a daddy talking to his young daughter as she is on the edge of some very critical decisions that will affect the way she sees the world forever. Sometimes we let others decide what we believe, but we don’t have to. What we hold in our hearts is as real as anything we can see. Seeing is not believing. Loving is believing. Never lose your power to believe, dream, or imagine the world as it could be because once it’s lost it can be quite difficult to get back. Tomorrow’s accomplishments most certainly come from today’s imagination.”

Published by Christian Faith Publishing, James Whittier’s new book is a beautiful and surprisingly empowering reminder that, no matter what people say about beloved childhood myths and figments, sometimes allowing oneself to believe for now is what matters.

Whittier offers a unique and wise perspective on the powerful importance of imagination, a safe haven for the spirited realm of childhood fantasies.

View a synopsis of “Believe…: If You Want To” on YouTube.

Consumers can purchase “Believe…: If You Want To” at traditional brick & mortar bookstores, or online at Amazon.com, Apple iTunes store, or Barnes and Noble.

For additional information or inquiries about “Believe…: If You Want To”, contact the Christian Faith Publishing media department at 866-554-0919.
Contact Information
Christian Faith Publishing Media Department
Christian Faith Publishing
http://www.christianfaithpublishing.com
8665540919

Online Web 2.0 Version
You can read the online version of this press release here.