InCadence Named as a Great Place to Work by Washingtonian for the Fourth Year

InCadence Strategic Solutions Corporation (InCadence) is proud to announce it has been recognized by Washingtonian for the fourth year as one of their 50 Great Places to Work.

MANASSAS, Va. (PRWEB) April 25, 2019 -- This is the tenth time Washingtonian has chosen Great Places to Work in the Washington, DC area. The feature dates back to 1999 and is published every other year. This year's 50 winning workplaces were chosen on the basis of such measures as: generous pay and benefits, interesting and meaningful work, great work/life balance, opportunities to learn and grow, commitment to charity and community, and the recognition and respect given to employees.

“Being recognized by Washingtonian as a great place to work for the fourth consecutive time is an incredible honor,” said Ericka Shirley, InCadence Chief Human Resources Officer. “From day one, InCadence has focused on creating a culture where employees feel valued and a part of every decision we make. Our employees give their time and dedication to our customers and the company, and it is only fitting for their time at work to be as fulfilling and enjoyable as possible. Through this award, our employees are letting us know we are hitting the mark.”

 Winners were chosen after editors reviewed nearly 200 companies and more than 7,500 employee surveys. The final determinations relied heavily on the scores given by a company's employees. Among Washingtonian's 50 winning workplaces, there are a mix of sizes (from an organization of 11 employees to one with about 8,000), as well as industries (winners include information-technology firms, government contractors, financial firms, nonprofits, and more).
