Julbie Launches The Release of The Leather Lingerie Care 101

Julbie has released The Leather Lingerie Care 101 guide to provide information on how to properly care for your leather delicates to ensure longevity.

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (PRWEB) April 26, 2019 -- Leather is a natural and durable fiber that almost everyone has come in contact with. Whether you’re wearing faux leather or rocking the real thing, knowing how to properly care for your leather goods is important.

Leather lingerie is a growing trend, and after a few wears, many women start to see the difference in their leather from when it was first purchased. Over time, leather can crack and wrinkle from dryness. Scuffs and scratch marks are also a common form of damage on leather. However, there are ways to prevent, protect, and extend the life cycle of these delicates.

“There is no reason that your leather delicates can’t enjoy a long and beautiful life, as long as you care for them the way you should. Leather protection is the single most important step in keeping your leather garments in like-new condition. Always remember to follow the manufacturer’s instructions when treating or cleaning these items.” says Hilary Hirsch- Co-Founder & Marketing Director of Julbie. "Following these guidelines will reward you with a luxurious garment, or several garments, that will look and feel beautiful for a lifetime. It is well worth the time and a little extra effort when the end result is so phenomenal.”

Julbie’s Leather Lingerie Care 101 guide provides information on repairing previous damage, proper storage and maintenance, removing stains and smells, and how to clean, condition, and polish leather.

Leather garments are an investment that should be properly cared for to ensure longevity. If you would like to learn more about leather lingerie care, read the guide here.

About Julbie

Julbie is a Women-founded and operated retail manufacturer based in Scottsdale, Arizona, that exists to empower other women to take confidence in their image and bodies. Our Products are sourced from leading manufacturers in the U.S.A. and worldwide that specialize in innovative designs, technology, and competitive prices. Julbie is dedicated to sourcing products from manufacturers that embrace a commitment to their quality and consistency of product.
Contact Information
Hilary Hirsch
Julbie
800-887-0461

Online Web 2.0 Version
You can read the online version of this press release here.