Eldorado Stone Introduces Light, Coastal Hues with Whitecap LedgeCut33®

_multilayered color palette expands on contemporary appeal of the Modern Collection._

SAN DIEGO (PRWEB) April 30, 2019 -- _Eldorado Stone _brightens the clean lines of contemporary architectural stone with the debut of Whitecap LedgeCut33®. Providing a multilayered color option, Whitecap presents an artistic display of highlights and depth patterns inspired by the sight of waves crashing upon unmarred coastal shores. In combination with its lighter, gray tones, the varying hues of Whitecap LedgeCut33 include accents of warm coppers and muted blues in a complex mix reminiscent of pristine sand stirred by the rolling surf.

“The use of color within a space can bring back old memories or create entirely new ones in an instant, regardless of whether you’re working with a modern design aesthetic or something more traditional,” said Sarah Lograsso, Director of Marketing. “With the coastal-inspired interplay of tones in Whitecap, our aim is to captivate and inspire the architecture and design community to rethink the way they incorporate rich, darker details while continuing to embrace the appeal of a brighter neutral base.”

With the introduction of Whitecap, Eldorado Stone reveals the next generation of modern coloring techniques and continues to elevate the tones and textures found in the natural world. Whether applied on an accent wall or as the focal point of any space, Whitecap infuses subtle warmth while providing a balance of strength and beauty that characterizes some of the nation’s most treasured seaside escapes.

As the latest addition to Eldorado Stone’s Modern Collection, Whitecap LedgeCut33 guarantees a natural and authentic appearance. Designed for dry-stack installation, this profile is easy to handle, cut and install. The number 33 represents the 3-inch height and three different lengths of 12 inches, 18 inches and 24 inches of each individual stone shape. In addition to Whitecap, LedgeCut33 is available nationwide in five inspiring color palettes: Beach Pebble, Birch, Golden Oak, Ocean Floor and Sage.
