Book Presents 30 Days of Daily Contemplative Messages Meant to Drive and Inspire Readers

GRETNAA, La. (PRWEB) May 10, 2019 -- Victoria T. Winter was leading a ministry called Voice Outreach, which was for the help of those who have encountered abuse as a child. When she started a blog of weekly inspirational stories to try and instill hope to those that may still be suffering from the effects, the response was overwhelming as people began writing in about how the stories were helping them see life from a more positive perspective. This in turn inspired Winter to write “Breaking Chains: A Thirty-Day Devotional of Biblical Positive Insights” (published by Archway Publishing).

The book presents 30 days of daily contemplative messages that are equipped to drive and inspire readers. In it, Winter introduces positive thinking techniques using biblical perspectives to help overcome life's difficult challenges, shedding light on a more healthy, faith-filled approach and frame of mind.

“This book is about inspiration. My hope is that it will help usher you into the brilliance of the revelation of you. Here, you will read stories and ideas that contain motivating forces that will incite the hero within you, and give breath to the champion you most certainly are,” Winter says.
