

Piano Playing People Prefer Patronizing Popular Piano Pages

Piano lovers from around the world love to meet and chat on Piano World web site.

Pompano Beach, Florida (PRWEB) November 24, 2008 -- Is PianoWorld.com the most popular piano web site in the world?

Quite possibly...

The World Famous Piano Forums on Piano World sure get their share of visitors, with over 36,000 registered members as of November 2008, and hundreds of thousands of guests.

Piano World overall enjoyed more than 6 million page views in October 2008, that's over 193,000 page views a day. Visitor logs show people have come to the Piano World site from over 240 countries

What makes Piano World the place for piano lovers?

Founder Frank Baxter says, "There is something here for just about anyone with an interest in the piano."

There are over 1,000 pages of free information, games, puzzles, stories, MP3s, and more on the main Piano World web site. These pages also include the ever popular classified sections. Professionals in the piano business (piano dealers, tuners, movers, restoration shops, teachers, and more) can be found in the classifieds. Piano World also has sections on how to choose the right piano for you, suggested piano books, CDs, and lots more.

The Piano Forums are very popular and cover many topics from discussions of pianos themselves to how to play and even technical details. There are currently over 1 million posts, and the forums keep growing at a rate of more than 400 new posts a day. Members hold Piano Forums Parties at their homes, or at the local dealer's store.

Who belongs to the Forums?

At any given time there may be concert artists, jazz recording artists, rock and/or blues musicians, major piano manufacturer's reps, piano tuner-technicians, piano teachers, dealers, and any number of amateur pianist with skills ranging from beginner to very advanced.

The Piano Forums are the place to visit if you have questions, or just want to hang out with other people who share a common interest (love?) of the piano.

Piano World also runs an online store, PianoSupplies.com (PianoSupplies.com) where you can purchase piano related items including benches, cushions, lamps, metronomes, music themed party goods, piano tuning equipment, piano moving equipment, and lots more piano and music related gifts and accessories.

Baxter says, "If you have any interest in the piano at all, PianoWorld.com is the place for you."

The Piano World motto is: It's Fun to Play the Piano ... Pass It On

For more information about the Piano Forums and Piano World, anyone can go to PianoWorld.com

Contact:
Frank Baxter
1-860-741-2625

###

Contact Information

FRANK BAXTER

Piano World

<http://www.pianoworld.com>

860-741-2625

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.