Entomol Products, LLC, a Developer and Producer of Essential Oil Insect Repellents, Launches its Product in Southern Markets Affected by Mosquito Carried Diseases

Safe and effective essential oil insect repellent launches online

SAN FRANCISCO (PRWEB) November 07, 2019 --

Entomol’s safe and effective, EPA-approved all-natural insect repellent is now being made available in select southern markets. The product line includes a 4 and a 7 hour formulations.

“Entomol helps people live healthier lives by protecting them from insects that [can] transmit diseases, such as Zika, West Nile Virus and Encephalitis, without exposing them to the harmful chemicals found in other repellents,” said Mark Sloneker, CEO. “We are thrilled to bring this uniquely safe and effective all-natural breakthrough product to market.”

The company says it will initially focus on the Southern states to handle initial orders, optimize site functionality and gather consumer feedback in advance of the full-scale launch to the entire U.S. market in Spring 2020. We are also in negotiations with private-label opportunities with large consumer goods brands that will expand other markets for distribution of Entomol essential oil products.

“Our core patented technology was licensed from DuPont and then coupled with our proprietary production methods to assure product quality,” said Sloneker. “We control the entire process from science to seed to plant to oil to product to insure the highest quality standards are rigorously maintained. This assures a safe and effective nature-based insect repellent that can be confidently used even on children.

Entomol Products, LLC is the exclusive developer and producer of Entomol branded and private-label essential oil insect repellents. The company is focused on the entire value chain from seed to bottle, and the end-consumer experience. This allows the Company to deliver premium quality essential oil repellent products to the market worldwide that are uniquely safe and effective. We are a social enterprise with a focus on protection from insect-borne disease and discomfort, with products derived from natural, sustainable sources. Good for people. Bad for bugs.
