

Disabled World Introduces Disability Community Calendar of Events

Disabled World has introduced a new section aimed at the disability community by presenting a calendar of Disability Events that are taking place around the world.

Montreal, Quebec (PRWEB) May 6, 2009 -- Disabled World has introduced a new section aimed at the disability community by presenting a calendar of Disability Events that are taking place around the world, including rehabilitation and assistive technology shows and trade fairs.

Disabled World's new Disability Events area displays events related to Persons with disabilities from around the world, to include both assistive technology and rehabilitation shows and trade fairs. Disabled World also offers News, Health Information, a Community Area and many additional services to persons with disabilities, seniors, veterans, and persons with health issues. Disabled World is dedicated to building the most informative Disability Community Online.

The new Disability Events area at Disabled World displays listings which include disability awareness, exhibitions of disabled products and aids, daily living aids, homecare, conferences, workshops, festivals, and various other special events. The list of coming events concerning disability and health is updated regularly with information gathered from public sources, submissions by the public, and health and disability organizations worldwide.

Members of the Disabled World Community, as well as viewers of the site, are pleased with the availability of the wide variety of categories related to the new Disability Events area of Disabled-World.com and are happy to have it available. The Disabled World site has an incredible number of areas related to Persons with disabilities, Seniors, and Health Information. Disabled-World.com continues to grow and welcomes visitors from across the globe.

Members at Disabled World also have the benefit of participating in the Disability Community Area, where there are many people who meet for friendship, shared good times, games and fun. The news available at Disabled World covers articles related to disability from around the world.

When asked about the new Disability Events area of Disabled-World.com, Ian Langtree stated, "The capability to keep up-to-date on events related to People with disabilities is important because it informs not only the people who experience disability themselves, but their family members, friends, and others in society as well. Disabled World is very pleased to offer this new area to others."
