China Construction Market Trends & Opportunities Reviewed in New Report Published at MarketPublishers.com

New research report “Construction in China – Key Trends and Opportunities to 2016: Affordable Housing and a CNY7.0 Trillion Infrastructure Budget to Propel Growth” worked out by Timetric has been recently published by Market Publishers Ltd. According to the report, Chinese government’s planned investment of CNY 7.0 trillion (USD 1.03 trillion) in infrastructure during 2011-2015 is expected to drive the growth of the construction industry, anticipated to achieve a CAGR of 13.68% over the forecast period.

London, UK (PRWEB) March 19, 2012 -- A significant amount of foreign direct investment (FDI) helped China’s construction industry to achieve a CAGR of 23.24% during the review period. Driven by the government’s allocation of CNY 3.3 trillion (USD 0.5 trillion) to infrastructure development, the Chinese construction industry saw robust growth from CNY 5.1 trillion (USD 0.7 trillion) in 2007 to CNY 11.8 trillion (USD 1.8 trillion) in 2011. The government’s planned investment of CNY 7.0 trillion (USD 1.03 trillion) in infrastructure during 2011-2015 is expected to drive the growth of the construction industry, anticipated to achieve a CAGR of 13.68% over the forecast period. In the latest five year plan (2012–2017), 36 million housing units are planned to be built.

The presence of global companies in the Chinese construction industry has brought in more advanced technical know-how into the industry, which has added to competition in the domestic market.
