Keynote Speaker and Fighter Pilot Lt. Col. Rob "Waldo" Waldman Honors Veterans by Spearheading Event to Raise Money for Veterans

The brave young men and women of our military have that same opportunity across the globe every day. The Wingman Foundation honored these courageous individuals by spearheading an event that brought in over $20,000 to veterans.

Atlanta, GA (PRWEB) December 03, 2012 -- In the aftermath of Hurricane Sandy, the thousands of Americans affected by the disaster have been touched by the outpouring of support from the nation. The nation may be divided on many issues, but always pulls together to help our fellow Americans in times of need.

Some brave young men and women don’t need to wait for a national disaster to do whatever it takes to serve the public. The heroes of our military risk life and limb to protect the American way of life, each and every day.

One man, who has been in those boots, has chosen to use his post-service success to honor outstanding soldiers through his charity, The Wingman Foundation. Decorated combat fighter pilot, keynote speaker, and founder of Your Wingman, Lt. Col. Rob “Waldo” Waldman, along with his brother, established a charity that honors courageous service members with, “The Ultimate Wingman” award. Waldo explains that the purpose of The Wingman Foundation is to, “…help recognize these special heroes and inspire Americans to give back to those who gave.”

On November the 15th, 2012 Lt. Col. Rob “Waldo” Waldman spearheaded a charity event that brought in over $20,000 to veterans. The entire purpose of The Wingman Foundation is to be able to honor the veterans and soldiers who have served this country by giving back.
