BPH, Chronic Prostatitis and Kidney Stones Treatment With Thermobalancing Therapy Has Been Discussed on Armenian Urology Congress, Fine Treatment Reports

Dr. Allen’s Devices for BPH, chronic prostatitis and kidney stones treatment were subject of discussion on the Urology annual International Armenian Congress in Yerevan on 27-28 September 2013. Dr. Allen presented empirical data as how the devices help people to get rid of kidney stones, recover from chronic prostatitis and reverse prostate enlargement, states Fine Treatment.

London, GB (PRWEB) October 10, 2013 -- In contrast to prostate medications and kidney stones removal procedures Thermobalancing therapy helps to terminate benign prostatic hyperplasia (BPH), get rid of chronic prostatitis and kidney stones naturally, by improving blood circulation in the affected organs has reported Dr. Allen on the International Congress of Urologists on September 27, 2013 in Yerevan, Fine Treatment reveals.

Professor of Medicine Ivan Aghajanyan said that the evidence that people can recover from such serious health problems naturally should be considered with great attention. “We, medical professionals, are responsible for people health and if the therapy can help we must use it in our practice,” he stated.

Dr. Allen presented empirical evidences that the devices invented helped people to recover from kidney stones and chronic prostatitis diseases. Some of the patients suffered with these chronic conditions for years. An exclusive prostate treatment with Dr. Allen’s therapeutic device enables the Thermobalancing therapy to improve the prostate condition by enhancing blood circulation locally that reduces the swelling and the size of the prostate relieving LUTS. No medication can achieve the same positive effect. Please watch a short informative video: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=V5xidswhxJM.

“The widely available information about BPH medications clearly explains that taking BPH drugs and antibiotics, especially over a prolonged period of time, can harm. It is also is unsafe to use lithotripsy for kidney stones treatment as this procedure can cause serious side effects, such as diabetes and high blood pressure,” has noted Dr. Simon Allen. “Contrary to prostate medications and kidney stones removal procedures, Dr. Allen’s therapeutic devices work on cleansing the affected organs at the capillary level naturally.”
