Scranton, PA (PRWEB) June 19, 2014 -- Professors of The University of Scranton’s Master of Health Administration (MHA) program Daniel West, MBA, JD, Bernardo Ramirez, MD, MBA (University of Central Florida) and Michael M. Costello, MBA, JD present their completed study, Maintaining Sustainability of Acute Care Hospitals at the European Academy of Management (EURAM) 14th Annual conference at the University of Valencia in Spain on Friday, June 6.

The three professors have been asked to present at the European Academy of Management’s Annual Conference since 2009, with the June 2014 presentation marking their fifth consecutive presentation.

The European Academy of Management (EURAM) is a professional community of engaged management scholars aiming to enhance the quality of research, improve its relevance for responsible and effective practice and contribute to the social and political discourse on management. The 14th annual meeting took place June 4 – June 7, 2014 in Valencia, Spain.

The Master of Health Administration (MHA) program at The University of Scranton is offered in both fully online and on-campus formats. The online MHA was recently launched, accepting and enrolling its first students in May 2014.

About The University of Scranton:

One of 28 Jesuit colleges and universities in the United States, the University of Scranton cultivates an educational environment shaped by Jesuit values of ethics and social responsibility. Faculty and staff are committed to providing an exceptional education that prepares students to meet the challenges and opportunities of today’s world.

The Graduate Health Administration Campus-based Program is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Management Education (CAHME, formerly ACEHSA). This accreditation reflects the commitment to and achievement of national standards for graduate level healthcare administration education. Additionally, the MHA program maintains full graduate membership status with the AUPHA. The online MHA, recently launched in May 2014, has been developed as a fully online replica of the ground program and is designed to mirror the same rigor and opportunity of the ground-based program.
