Winter 2018 Line Up - ValueRays Hand Warmers - Advanced Heated Computer Mouse

"Be proactive. Winter is approaching, and chills of the season will be calmed using a heated computer mouse by ValueRays."

PALM SPRING, Calif. (PRWEB) September 18, 2018 -- Fall 2018 is exciting for the 10-year old heated computer accessory Company ValueRays with the introduction of five all-new and improved heated computer mice. The mice are plug and play; no additional software is needed. The internal heaters provide warmth ranging from 99 to 120 degrees fahrenheit.

A heated mouse is perfect for people who work in a cold office or cold work environment. Many people who suffer from arthritis, carpal tunnel, poor circulation and Raynaud's get relief using a heated mouse. Tense hand muscles, cold fingers and stiff joints relax with warmth. A warming computer mouse soothes a cold mouse hand and makes an excellent addition to a cold desktop. They are great gifts, too.

The ValueRays Heated Mouse features an extra long USB cord -- 60 to 65 inches long. The all-new designs have a strong, long-lasting scroll wheel, on-off/high-low heat control switch on the bottom of the mouse, an all-black comfortable finish, enhanced DPI settings, more functions, buttons and enhanced 2018 features.

The five new heated mice are available online through the ValueRays HeatedMouse.com website and with Prime shipping on Amazon.com. Prices range from $22 - $30 each with Free Prime Shipping.
