Agi Architects has been Awarded with the Famed A' Design Award for their Hospital Design

A' Award and Competitions are encouraged to announce that the work Kuwait Children’s Hospital by Agi Architects has been acknowledged with the prestigious A' Design Award at Architecture, Building and Structure Design Competition.

Como, Italy (PRWEB) July 12, 2012 -- A' Award and Competitions are pleased to announce that the work Kuwait Children’s Hospital by Agi Architects has been granted the prestigious A' Design Award at Architecture, Building and Structure Design Competition elected as the winner by the international jurors of the A' Design Awards & Competitions amidst numerous projects.

Concerning Kuwait Children’s Hospital
Agi Architects, the creator of the winning work Kuwait Children’s Hospital explains “The proposed design for the Kuwait Children’s Hospital (KCH) is conceived as a Landmark that responds to climate and culture, and re-interprets these values in a mid-rise building, that expresses in the skyline a powerful sign that establishes a strong sense of place, history, and future for the children of Kuwait. Like a fortress, it creates an exterior monolithic image that seeks protection from the harsh climate, and a softer interior oasis tailored to the children’s use.” To learn more visit: http://www.adesignaward.com/design.php?ID=23930
